ICT for Higher Education - Smart Move towards Online Teaching and Learning

ICT tools for Online Teaching and Assessment
As per UGC APA score consideration Guidelines

Date & Timing:
23rd to 27th June, 2020
5:30 to 7:00 PM

About the FDP :

In recent years technology becomes more and more embedded in our culture, there is a need to provide learners with relevant and contemporary experiences that allow them to successfully engage with technology and prepare them for life after acquiring their education, Online Teaching and Learning refers to learning models that combine traditional classroom practice with e-learning solutions. For example, students in a traditional class can be assigned both print-based and online materials. They have online mentoring sessions with their teacher through various ICT tools available at ease. Instead, consideration must be given to the subject matter, the learning objectives and outcomes, the characteristics of the learners, and the learning context in order to arrive at the optimum mix of instructional and delivery methods.

Objectives :

- To encourage teachers to think about an increased use of ICT tools in teaching, and to inspire them on where and how to use these tools is the main idea of this FDP on ICT.
- To build an Ideal Classroom for the 21st Century and develop curriculum materials for different ages to foster deep understanding.

Virtual Workshop on
"Density Functional Theory and Its Applications"
8 – 12 September 2021
Organized by
Department of Physics, Assam University, Silchar

ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

The density functional theory (DFT) is one of the most popular quantum mechanical methods used to investigate the electronic structure and properties of a large number of systems including molecules, drugs, biomolecules, bulk- and nano-materials. It is nowadays routinely employed in variety of areas such as, physics, chemistry, materials science, biosciences, nanotechnology etc. Despite its utility in diverse areas of research, the essential idea of DFT calculations are, by and large, conceivable at the postgraduate level. The objectives of this workshop are to introduce the basic concept of DFT, demonstrate their utility in diverse areas of science, bringing in exciting examples from the field, and guide participants through implementation of the techniques for simple problems.

The workshop is intended for final year PG students, research scholars as well as faculty members having interest in the subject matter of Indian universities/colleges/institutes.
